

ANNE INNIS DAGG

Join us for the launch of Anne Innis Dagg's newly released autobiographical book Smitten by Giraffe.

Smitten by Giraffe

Anne Innis Dagg, PhD: Smitten by Giraffe: My Life as a Citizen Scientist

Dagg was the first biologist to study the behaviour of a wild animal in Africa, in her case in 1956-57, the now endangered giraffe. She has published 20 books and 60-refereed scientific articles, not only on giraffe, but also on camels, sexism, taxonomy, homosexuality, sociobiology, infanticide and university life. She was a part-time advisor in Independent Studies at UW for 38 years.

Tuesday, October 18th | 4pm
The Book Store, South Campus Hall

bookstore
UNIVERSITY OF WATERLOO

