BOOK PUBLISHING SEMINAR

Emily Andrew, senior editor at Cornell University Press, and Randy Schmidt, senior editor at University of British Columbia Press, are holding a book publishing talk at the University of Waterloo on Friday, 3 November 2017. It consists of a 45-minute presentation followed by a question and answer period. Commencing at 12 pm, it will take place in Arts Lecture Hall, Room 124. All faculty and advanced PhD students are welcome to attend.

The talk will focus on scholarly book publishing in the humanities and social sciences. It will provide an opportunity to learn about the process of publishing with a university press, in Canada and the US. Topics of discussion include:

- what distinguishes university presses from other publishers
- how to locate the appropriate publisher for your work
- how to prepare an attractive prospectus
- how to turn your thesis into a book
- the peer review process
- sources of funding for scholarly monographs
- what to expect of your publisher and what your publisher will expect of you

If you are unable to attend but would like to set up a separate meeting to discuss a specific book proposal, please email Randy Schmidt (schmidt@ubcpress.ca) or Emily Andrew (ea424@cornell.edu).
