

The North American Studies Program of the University of Bonn invites applications for a

Visiting Professorship in Canadian Studies (academic year 2007-2008)

Your credentials are:

- M.A. or PhD in Canadian Literature and Culture, Political Science, or any other discipline affiliated with the North American Studies Program (Art History, Economics, Ethnology, Geography, History, Law, Linguistics, Media Studies, Philosophy, Political Science, Sociology, Religious Studies)
- Teaching experience

We offer you:

The North American Studies Program at the University of Bonn, Germany, offers a teaching position for a Visiting Professor in Canadian Studies each academic year. The appointment from mid-October 2007 to mid-July 2008 covers two semesters. The winter semester runs from mid-October through to mid-February, with a Christmas recess. The summer semester runs from mid-April to late-July. Each term there are 15 weeks of classes.

The North American Studies Program expects the applicant to teach two seminars (4 hours per week) during each of the two semesters and to participate in the projects of the German-Canadian Centre. The monthly salary amounts to approximately € 1.700,00, after taxes and insurance. The salary is also paid during recess in February and March.

Pre-departure preparations include the acquisition of a Work Visa from a German Consulate in Canada, which will require a valid Canadian passport as well as a Police Clearance Certificate from the RCMP. The University of Bonn will require photocopies of the applicant's university degrees, high school diploma, and birth certificate.
