

VIRTUAL

Publication Development Forums

Early-career scholars with a PhD/DFA/DPhil in Theatre, Dance, Performance Studies or any related field and who are in contingent positions and/or seeking more secure academic employment are invited to participate in a series of virtual meetings to develop a work-in-progress for publication. Forums will be hosted by scholars across the US during the summer of 2020. Participants will be paired with a writing mentor and take part in nine hours of scheduled time over a five-day period. Participants do not have to attend the Forum that corresponds to their current location; they are free to choose the Forum that best fits their schedule. These Forums are meant to support participants as they meet a major research goal.
